

Childcare Construction

Black Friday. Cyber Monday.
#GIVINGTUESDAY™
November 28, 2017

With the support of our friends, Haymarket Center has been able to deliver 1,800 babies drug free and save thousands of lives

Today is Black Friday, the largest day of retail spending of the year. The level of generosity peaks on this day, during this holiday season. The movement known as #GivingTuesday has begun and Haymarket Center is again participating in the movement. This year we are asking for your generosity to aid the children born in addiction and their families.

Haymarket Center is raising resources for the completion of a new & improved childcare center, supporting children and the entire family in their treatment and recovery.

Haymarket Center is one of the only treatment providers that admit pregnant moms and their children.

- Child care is provided on site so women can focus on their treatment while their children receive services to help foster healthy development
- Haymarket Center's family-centered programming treats the whole family
- Haymarket Center screens for developmental delays that are often brought on by mom's addiction. Providing appropriate interventions will address any delay that could prevent children from beginning school at the same level as other children their age.

YOU can be a part of helping a family change their life!

Join with us during this #GivingTuesday movement in supporting the services that Haymarket Center provides.
